

JUN 10 - SIGHTSEEING & TROUBLE!

We started with coffee in Manzanita this morning in the sunshine followed by a walk on the beach.

This sign made me chuckle.

Then we went to Nehalem Bay and walked the short main street. We drove further south to Rockaway Beach where we turned around.

Heading back north, we stopped in Garibaldi where Jen got some fresh shrimp for dinner tonight.

Wheeler, OR was our next port of call. We wandered around a large antique shop then had Hungarian Mushroom soup for lunch. It was surprisingly very good.

How's this for a neat table and chairs?

Back at the campsite, I was planning our exit from Washington State when I looked at the trailer tires. Hmm... something's not right?!

After a quick look, we have a broken spring. Not surprising with the rough roads we have experienced on this trip.

When did it happen, we don't know. But it had to have happened sometime in the last day or so. Fortunately it's the rear spring (of two) that is broken at the back of the spring. The tire doesn't look like it's done a lot of running in the condition the suspension is in. It's just that it really isn't carrying its share of the load.

I called an RV repair place this afternoon. We are going to take Ali back to Tillamook. Hopefully Monday morning we'll have a new spring and be back on the road home.
